It can change your life.
~ Leonard Cohen

// Summerlude '23

For Summerlude '23, our final exhibition of the 2022-23 season, members of the Visual Artists section were invited to express the sounds, scenes and songs that enhance their art and inhabit their memories, with a focus on – of course – summer.

Summer is... bright hot sunshine, flowers in the garden, waves on the shore, reading a good book, a magical concert, cackling geese in a barnyard, a stroll in the park, the sounds of the city, the quiet of the country...

Summer is also the howl of a thunderstorm, backbreaking work to plant and harvest, the chaos of weekend traffic to “get away”...

Perhaps those sounds and sights, or a scene from a book affected how an artist sketched, painted, or made a photograph. Some of the art reflects the mood of a song or the world the artist saw as she read a story.

Growing up in Sri Lanka, I was fascinated with flowers - my father had the most beautiful, vibrant garden.

When I lived in Vancouver, to my utter delight, I discovered that I had inherited my father's green thumb. I grew every plant in my garden but hated to see the flowers die, so I started to preserve their beauty by drying, pressing and incorporating them in some of my artwork.

My artwork reflects my love of colour, shape and movement. Each piece expresses a mood of its own. Acrylics allow me to work with vivid colours to paint florals, detailed scenes and intense abstracts. The pieces for Summerlude reflect aspects of summer: from calm sailing to travels; from flowers to the heat of the busy city. Each art form brings forth feelings and emotions from calmness and serenity to boldness and risk taking.
